

1. This program is a free tool for collecting medical data from medical information files in rtf format.
2. You can not benefit from sharing the program to other entities.
3. This program is just a tool. Remember that you are still the researcher. When using the program, you must check the correctness of generated data. While creating the software, we have made every effort to ensure its correct operation, however, we cannot predict what the files you want to examine will look like. For this reason, the databases generated by the program may contain some incorrect records or missing records. We are not responsible for any errors in generated databases.
4. You can fully use the databases created by the program for scientific research, collecting medical data for your own use or the entity you represent.
5. By using the program, you declare that you have the right to use medical data and that you have obtained it in a lawful manner.
